Our Values

At WAVAW we are here to support survivors and to build a world where women are safe from violence. We will always respect your freedom of choice, honour your feelings, and provide you with a safe place to be. We value greatly the collective wisdom and experience of women.

As a feminist organization we want to shift society by addressing the root causes of violence and oppression. We encourage all women to access our services. And we call on all those who want a just, honest, diverse, accessible and equal society to join us in our efforts to create social change.

Together we can share in this important work.

We've been there

We opened our doors and our phone lines to women in 1982 and we are still here to support you. Our victim support workers and counsellors care about what you, or someone you love, may be going through as a result of sexual assault. We care about your privacy and will let you decide how we can best support you. We know that sexual assault is never your fault. We are always here to support you.

We're here for you

We are here if you need to talk about what has happened, whether it's happened to you or to someone you know. We can go with you to the hospital. We can be there for you in court. We can advocate for you. We can provide counselling options, and let you know what kind of compensation, and additional support could be available for you.
